

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
FOOD SAFETY AND INSPECTION SERVICE
QUARTERLY ENFORCEMENT REPORT
January 1, 2005 through March 31, 2005

INTRODUCTION

This is the Food Safety and Inspection Service's (FSIS) Quarterly Enforcement Report. The report provides a summary of the enforcement actions FSIS has taken to ensure that products that reach consumers are safe, wholesome, and properly labeled. Although this report focuses on enforcement actions taken, it is important to recognize that this is only one aspect of the Agency's work. The Agency's main purpose is to protect public health by achieving compliance with laws and regulations.

FSIS inspects products produced in over 6,000 meat, poultry, and egg product plants. Since January 1998, meat and poultry plants have been operating HACCP Systems. Publication of this information is another step in the Agency's commitment to openness and transparency in its work to protect the public from adulterated or misbranded meat, poultry, and egg products.

The report is presented in sections that correspond with the category of action. Activities reported within the categories are either pending or experienced new activity during the reporting period. FSIS also coordinated administrative actions, where regulatory or other authorities were applied in inspected plants and managed USDA participation in criminal cases pending in Federal courts. These actions, along with the thousands of inspections made each day in plants throughout the country, form strong underpinnings for promoting compliance with food safety laws. Each section of this report is described and reported in more detail as follows:

FSIS ENFORCEMENT PROCESSES

USDA's Food Safety and Inspection Service (FSIS) is charged with ensuring that meat, poultry, and egg products are safe, wholesome, and properly labeled. FSIS, in cooperation with State counterparts, inspects, monitors, and verifies the proper processing, handling, and labeling of meat and poultry products from the delivery of animals to the slaughterhouse until the products reach consumers. FSIS, in cooperation with FDA and the states, provides similar coverage for egg products – the processed whole egg ingredients used in manufacturing other foods. (More information concerning egg products inspection and enforcement is provided in the FSIS publication "Focus on Shell Eggs" that can be accessed at:

<http://www.fsis.usda.gov/Frame/FrameRedirect.asp?main=http://www.fsis.usda.gov/oa/pubs/shelleggs.htm> . If FSIS detects problems with any products it regulates, the Agency takes product control and enforcement measures to protect consumers.

USDA conducts monitoring and verification activities at plants that slaughter food animals and process products to ensure that products at these establishments are produced in a sanitary environment and potential food safety hazards are identified and eliminated. These establishments must apply for a grant of inspection from FSIS and demonstrate the ability to meet certain requirements for producing safe, wholesome, and accurately labeled food products. Requirements include meeting sanitation, facility, and operational standards, and having preventive systems in place to ensure the production of safe and unadulterated food. Products from official establishments are labeled with the mark of inspection, indicating that they have been inspected and passed by USDA and can be sold in interstate commerce.

FSIS uses investigators throughout the chain of distribution to detect and detain potentially hazardous foods in commerce and to investigate violations of law. Even if products are produced under conditions that are safe and sanitary, abuse can occur on their way to the consumer. For example, if foods are transported in trucks that are too warm, or if exposed to contamination, then that can result in product that can cause illness or injury.

FSIS also works closely with USDA's Office of Inspector General (OIG), which assists FSIS in pursuing complex criminal cases. In addition, many state and local jurisdictions have enforcement authorities that apply to USDA-regulated products. FSIS cooperates with these other jurisdictions in investigations and case presentations. FSIS also participates with OIG and the U.S. Department of Justice in monitoring conditions of probation orders and pretrial diversion agreements developed to resolve cases.

This report provides a summary of enforcement actions, including actions that address the Pathogen Reduction/HACCP regulatory requirements FSIS has taken to ensure that products that reach consumers are safe, wholesome and properly labeled. The Agency recognizes that this report is a snapshot in time of a dynamic process. Some information will be out-of-date by the time this report is published. For example, many matters shown as under appeal will have been resolved by the time this report is published. Other actions could be appealed or closed after this reporting period. This information will be updated on a quarterly basis and made available to the public through future reports.

NONCOMPLIANCE RECORDS AND APPEALS

FSIS inspection program personnel perform thousands of inspection procedures each day to determine whether or not inspected plants are in compliance with regulatory requirements. Each time inspection program personnel make a non-compliance determination they complete a report explaining the nature of the regulatory action. They notify plant managers of problems through a written Noncompliance Record (NR).

NRs document noncompliance determinations that occur in the plant's sanitation and other controls and notify the plant that it must take action to remedy a problem and prevent its recurrence. If this is done, then the plant will continue to operate without interruption. Problems reported on NRs vary from minor labeling discrepancies to serious breakdowns in food safety controls. When noncompliance occurs repeatedly, or when the plant fails to prevent adulterated product from being produced or shipped, FSIS takes action to control products and may take an action to withhold or suspend inspection.

During this quarterly reporting period, FSIS performed 1,892,369 verification procedures.

Table 1a provides numbers of NRs issued by FSIS inspection personnel between January 1, 2005 and March 31, 2005. Table 1b shows the number of appeals and the dispositions of the appeals filed by plants during this reporting period.

PRODUCT CONTROL ACTIONS

FSIS takes product control actions to gain physical control over products when there is reason to believe they are adulterated or misbranded. The actions ensure that those products do not enter commerce or, if they are already in commerce, that they do not reach consumers.

In official establishments, FSIS inspectors may retain products whenever there is evidence of unwholesomeness, or if products are adulterated or mislabeled. FSIS inspectors condemn animals for disease, contamination, or adulteration to prevent their use as human food. Figures for condemnations of livestock for the reporting period are as follows: FSIS inspected 37,150,386 livestock carcasses, of which 67,462 carcasses were condemned. FSIS inspected 2,284,532,989 poultry carcasses of which 14,264,425 carcasses were condemned.

Detentions

FSIS investigators, import officers and other designated FSIS personnel will detain any product that may be adulterated or misbranded when found in commerce. If product cannot be disposed of within 20 days, then FSIS may request any U.S. District or other court to seize the product as provided for in the Federal Meat Inspection Act and Poultry Products Inspection Act. Most detentions result in voluntary disposal of the product and do not require court actions. Tables 2a., 2b., and 2c. provide the number of detentions and the pounds of product involved in these actions for meat and poultry products for this quarterly reporting period. Table 2a. provides the information on detentions made by Compliance and Investigations Division (CID), Office of Program Evaluation, Enforcement and Review investigators. Table 2b. provides the detention information for the Office of International Affairs. Table 2c. provides the detention information for the Office of Field Operations.

Recalls

A recall is a voluntary action by a firm to remove adulterated, misbranded, or suspect products from distribution. FSIS cannot require recalls but can recommend and monitor those that occur. Class I recalls involve a health hazard for which there is a reasonable probability that the use of the product will cause serious adverse health consequences or death. Class II recalls involve a potential health hazard when there is a remote probability of adverse health consequences from use of the product. Class III recalls involve a situation in which use of the product is not likely to cause adverse health consequences. For current information on recalls, go to the FSIS recalls web page at: http://www.fsis.usda.gov/Fsis_Recalls/index.asp .

Port-of-Entry Reinspection

FSIS conducts port-of-entry reinspections of imported meat, poultry, and egg products. It is important to note that this activity is a reinspection of products that have already been inspected and passed by an equivalent foreign inspection system. Thus, imported product reinspection is a monitoring activity for verifying on an on-going basis the equivalence of a foreign country's inspection system.

Port-of-entry reinspection is directed by the Automated Import Information System (AIIS), a centralized computer database that generates reinspection assignments and stores results. After clearing U.S. Customs and Border Protection and the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), every imported meat, poultry, or egg product shipment must be presented to FSIS.¹ When a meat or poultry shipment is presented for reinspection, the AIIS scans its records to verify eligibility. Shipments are denied reinspection and refused entry if the foreign country is not eligible to export to the United States, if the establishment that produced the product has not been certified for export to this country, if the product presented for reinspection is not eligible, if the shipping marks are not unique, or if APHIS has animal health restrictions on the country.

All imported product shipments are reinspected for general condition, labeling, proper certification, and accurate count. In addition, other types of inspection (TOI) may be generated by the AIIS. These could include a physical examination of the product for visible defects, collection of samples for microbiological analysis, sampling for food chemistry analyses, and samples to be analyzed for drug and chemical residues. Shipments are randomly selected for reinspection using a statistical sampling plan that allocates samples by HACCP process categories. The level of sampling is based on the volume imported from the country within each category. Products that fail reinspection are rejected and must be re-exported, converted to non-human food, or destroyed. Product rejections cause the AIIS to automatically generate an increased rate of reinspection for future shipments of like product from the same establishment.

This HACCP-based sampling approach began in August 2002 as the new AIIS3 system was launched, and was fully implemented in the quarter beginning October 1, 2002. Implementation of AIIS3 provides an opportunity for FSIS to present meat and poultry reinspection data in a new reporting format that has been constructed to better represent reinspection results (Table 3a). This new format is based on pounds of product rather than lots of product because the lotting of product for reinspection is a commercial decision made by the importer or broker, and the term “lot” has no regulatory definition. Table 3b presents egg product reinspection results in the same format they appear in past quarters, minus lots for the reason given above. The new reporting format will be applied to these products when they are incorporated into the AIIS3 system. It should be noted that data reports at the end of a fiscal quarter are the best available information for reinspection activities conducted during the preceding three months, but those data are preliminary until all ongoing inspection activities are completed. For example, pending reinspection activities include open TOI’s, in particular samples taken for laboratory analysis, but also could include organoleptic product examinations, and refused entries which may stay open for up to 45 days. A report of quarterly reinspection data will not be “final” until all open entries are closed. These normally small adjustments in past quarter data will be reflected in subsequent quarterly reports.

NOTICES OF WARNING

FSIS issues Notices of Warning (NOW) for minor violations of law that are not referred to United States Attorneys for prosecution. FSIS may also issue these warnings when a United States Attorney declines to prosecute a case or bring action against a specific business or person. These letters warn that FSIS may seek criminal action based on continued violations. Notices of Warning may be issued to any individual or business, including Federal plants, wholesalers, distributors, restaurants, retail stores and other entities that process, store, or distribute meat and poultry products. Table 4 shows Notices of Warning issued by the Office of Program Evaluation, Enforcement and Review (OPEER) headquarters office and by each of the CID Regions during the reporting period.

ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIONS

FSIS inspects meat and poultry products and applies the marks of inspection when inspectors are able to determine that products are not adulterated. FSIS may temporarily withhold the marks of inspection from specific products, suspend inspection, or withdraw a grant of inspection if a plant is not meeting regulatory requirements.

Effective January 25, 2000, FSIS amended its Rules of Practice that apply to Agency enforcement actions. The Rules of Practice, which are located in 9 CFR Part 500, define each type of enforcement action FSIS can take, the conditions under which it is likely to take these actions, and the procedures FSIS will follow in doing so.

Withholding the Marks of Inspection

If a plant fails to prevent preparation and shipment of adulterated products or develops a pattern of noncompliance showing the plant's sanitation or process control systems have failed, FSIS may notify plant managers that the USDA mark of inspection is being withheld from some or all of the products in the plant. This action effectively shuts down affected operations, because it is illegal to sell products in commerce that do not bear the USDA mark of inspection. Other non-affected parts of the plant, if any, may still operate.

Suspension of Inspection

FSIS may temporarily suspend the assignment of inspectors if a plant fails to prevent preparation and shipment of adulterated products, fails to present a corrective action plan to bring the plant sanitation or process control systems into compliance, or for other reasons specified in the Rules of Practice. As with withholding actions, a suspension shuts down all or part of the plant's operations. USDA may place the suspension in abeyance if corrections are presented, put into effect, and effectively prevent additional problems. FSIS District Offices have established procedures to monitor and verify a plant's corrective and preventive actions.

Notification to Establishments of Intended Enforcement Actions

FSIS has an established procedure to notify establishments of intended enforcement actions related to certain types of noncompliance that have not resulted in actual shipment of adulterated products. Under this procedure, a notice is issued to an establishment when the Inspector-in-Charge determines that the establishment has experienced multiple, recurring noncompliances, or for other reasons, as specified in the Rules of Practice, the establishment has failed to implement adequate corrective and preventive measures. The Notice informs the establishment of the nature and scope of the noncompliance and that FSIS intends to withhold the marks of inspection or suspend the assignment of inspectors. The Notice explains the basis of and references documentation for the intended enforcement action, and provides the establishment three business days to contest the basis for the proposed enforcement action or to demonstrate how compliance has been or will be achieved. In appropriate situations, USDA may defer a decision based on corrections submitted by the establishment.

Withdrawal of Inspection

In some situations, FSIS may decide that it is necessary to withdraw inspection from a plant. In these cases, FSIS withdraws inspection from a Federal plant by filing a complaint with the USDA Hearing Clerk. The plant may request a hearing before an Administrative Law Judge. If the action is based on insanitation, the plant will remain closed while proceedings go forward. In other cases that do not involve a threat to public health, operations may continue. These actions may be resolved by FSIS and the plant entering into a consent decision, which allows the plant to operate under certain specified conditions. Once inspection is withdrawn, a closed plant must reapply to receive Federal inspection.

As specified in the Rules of Practice, USDA may initiate withholding, suspension, or withdrawal actions to limit a plant's slaughtering or processing, or prevent the plant from operating altogether, based on reasons related to the PR/HACCP regulations such as:

- failure to collect and analyze samples for the presence of generic E. coli and record test results,
- failure to develop or implement Sanitation Standard Operating Procedures, or
- failure to develop or implement a required HACCP plan.

In addition, USDA may initiate a withholding, suspension, or withdrawal action for other reasons such as:

- failure to meet “sanitation performance standards,”
- insanitary conditions,
- inhumane handling or slaughtering of livestock,
- failure to destroy condemned product, or
- interference with inspection personnel.

Tables 5, 6, and 7 list administrative actions (other than actions based on convictions) by establishment, initiated, pending, or closed, for the period, along with whether the action is based on an SSOP or HACCP Systems failure, or for some other reason, such as inhumane handling.

In some plants, FSIS may find more than one basis for taking enforcement action or may take more than one action. For example, the plant has sanitation problems and is not conducting E. coli testing or a sanitation problem occurs more than once. These tables list actions taken at large, small, and very small plants. The enforcement action can be for any of the identified reasons. During this period, activity is reported concerning 206 plants. Sixty-one of the actions in these plants were initiated during this reporting period. Eighty-three actions were closed by letters of warning or other means during this period.

Tables 5, 6, and 7 also identify those cases in which an appeal of the suspension action may have been made, along with whether the appeal was granted or the administrative action was sustained (appeal denied). When decisions on appeals have not been made during the period of this report, the appeal is shown as pending and will be reported in the next quarterly report.

There was one appeal of suspension action filed during this period.

Formal Adjudicatory Actions for Food Safety

Under the statutes it administers, FSIS can, in appropriate cases, move to withdraw grants of federal inspection from plants and plant owners based on the failure of a recipient of inspection service to meet critical sanitation and food safety regulatory requirements [e.g., Sanitation Standard Operating Procedures (SSOP) or Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Point (HACCP) system regulations] necessary to protect the public health. In some situations, FSIS also can seek to deny inspection service to an applicant for failure to meet certain food safety regulatory requirements. These actions are taken in accordance with the FSIS Rules of Practice (9 CFR Part 500) and Department regulations governing formal adjudicatory proceedings (7 CFR Part 1, Subpart H). Plants and plant owners are provided with the opportunity for a hearing before a federal administrative law judge. Table 8 identifies refusal and withdrawal actions pending or taken (other than outstanding consent decisions) on this basis for this reporting period. There was one action initiated this reporting period.

HOUSE OF RAEFORD FARMS OF LOUISIANA, LLC 19865 P ARCADIA, LA	Original 03/28/05 Amended 03/31/05				On March 31, 2005, FSIS filed an amended complaint to withdraw inspection based on the firm's failure to effectively maintain sanitary premises, facilities, equipment and operations, and compliance with SPS, SSOP and HACCP regulations. Previously, on March 28, 2005, FSIS filed a complaint to continue the suspension of inspection service.
LAGROU COLD STORAGE 00219 I 03197 M CHICAGO, IL	09/24/02				On September 24, 2002, FSIS filed a complaint to withdraw inspection based on the firm's alleged failure to operate and maintain its business in a manner sufficient to prevent the creation of insanitary conditions, and to ensure that meat and poultry products are not adulterated. On November 18, 2002, through May 3, 2003, approximately 7,459,000 pounds of product was reconditioned under the supervision of FSIS and these products were allowed to enter commerce. Another 855,000 pounds of product that did not qualify to be reconditioned was transported to a landfill and destroyed. On August 23, 2004, through September 1, 2004, the remaining product, approximately 6,000,000 pounds, was transported to a landfill as required by a August 18, 2004, court order.
KIRKLAND'S CUSTOM MEATS & SLAUGHTER INC. 11156 M 11156 P JACKSONVILLE, FL	11/02/04				On February 9, 2005, FSIS filed a Motion for Adoption of Proposed Default Decision and Order to indefinitely withdraw inspection services. Previously, on November 2, 2004, FSIS filed a complaint to withdraw inspection based on the firm's alleged failure to maintain sanitary conditions or operate in a manner sufficient to prevent adulteration of meat and meat food products.

Withdrawal for Unfitness

Under the statutes it administers, FSIS also can move to withdraw inspection, after opportunity for a hearing, based on the unfitness of an applicant for or a recipient of inspection because of a felony conviction or more than one violation involving food. Actions pending or taken (other than outstanding consent decisions) are reported. Table 9 identifies actions pending or taken (other than outstanding consent decisions) on this basis for this reporting period. There was one unfitness action initiated this reporting period.

BRESTENSKY'S MEAT MARKET INC 09407 M FREEPORT, PA		01/12/05		On January 12, 2005, the firm entered into an amended Stipulation and Consent Decision.

Removing Exempt Privilege

The meat and poultry laws exempt certain custom, retail, or other operations from inspection. For example, custom exempt businesses slaughter animals or poultry, or process meat and poultry for owners of the animals or products. When insanitary conditions create health hazards, FSIS may remove custom or other exempt privileges through issuance of a Notice of Ineligibility (complaint), and require the business to cease operations until sanitary conditions are restored. FSIS can also take action when custom or other exempt facilities fail to properly label product as "Not for Sale." These exempt businesses have the opportunity to correct violations prior to such actions, contest the basis for such actions at hearings, and to enter settlement agreements (consent orders) to resolve actions. Table 10 lists exempt actions pending or taken (other than outstanding consent orders) on this basis for this reporting period. There were three such actions initiated this reporting period.

CRIMINAL ACTIONS

If evidence is found that a person or business has engaged in violations of the Federal Meat Inspection Act, Poultry Products Inspection Act, or Egg Products Inspection Act, USDA may refer the case to the appropriate United States Attorney to pursue criminal prosecution. Conviction for a criminal offense can result in a fine, imprisonment, or both. Table 11 lists criminal actions and criminal cases in categories according to the status of the case, which may be indictment or information issued, pleas, convictions, or acquittals, and sentences rendered during this reporting period.

PRE-TRIAL DIVERSION AGREEMENTS

In certain situations, United States Attorneys may enter into Pre-Trial Diversion (PTD) agreements. Under these agreements, the government agrees not to proceed with criminal prosecution if the alleged violator meets certain terms and conditions. The terms and conditions of a PTD are tailored to fit each individual case. FSIS frequently monitors these agreements so that it can assist the United States Attorneys in determining whether prosecution should be re-instituted. If the divertee successfully completes the program, no criminal charges are filed. If, on the other hand, the divertee does not successfully complete the program, criminal charges may be reinstated. There were no pre-trial diversion agreements this quarter.

CIVIL ACTIONS

FSIS also has authority to seek a variety of civil actions in Federal Court.

Seizures

When FSIS has reason to believe distributed products are adulterated or misbranded, the Agency will, through the United States Attorney, institute a seizure action against the product. The product is held pending an adjudication of its status. If the court finds that the product is adulterated or misbranded, it will condemn the product. Condemned product cannot be further processed to be used for human food. Table 12 lists seizure actions and seizure cases. There were no seizure actions initiated during this reporting period.

Injunctions

FSIS, through the U.S. Attorney, may request a U.S. District Court to enjoin repetitive violators of the FMIA, PPIA, or EPIA. The Agency seeks injunctions to stop uninspected retail stores from processing products without required inspection for wholesale business or to prevent or restrain other violations of law. Table 13 lists civil actions and civil cases. There was one injunction initiated during this reporting period.

Table 13. Civil Actions

False Claims Act Violations

The Department of Justice Affirmative Civil Enforcement (ACE) program is used by U.S. Attorneys to recover damages when a violation of law involves fraud against the Federal government. Under the False Claims Act, the government may recover three times its estimated losses. FSIS typically seeks action under this program for cases involving products, not in compliance, sold to the military, to public schools engaged in the school lunch program, or to other Federal institutions. Table 14 lists ACE actions and ACE cases. There were no ACE program actions reported for this period.
